HELM RAIL EQUIPMENT SERVICES

Helm Rail Equipment Services, a division of Helm Financial Corporation, provides high quality used locomotives, parts, and components throughout the rail industry. In addition to the rail industry, HRES supplies complete diesel engines and various diesel power parts to a wide range of Marine and Industrial markets.

Helm Rail Equipment Services is committed to quality and customer service. Our East St. Louis warehouse facility allows HRES to maintain a large inventory ensuring access to the quality parts and components you need. Its central location means quick and easy shipping throughout North America.

Quality products, competitive pricing, and outstanding service make Helm Rail Equipment Services a leader in today's marketplace.

PARTS

HRES is proud to provide our customers with the parts they need and the quality they demand. Whether it's a new, remanufactured or RTO (running take-out) product, everything we sell is backed by Helm Rail Equipment Services' commitment to customer service and satisfaction.

HRES has developed a network of remanufacturing companies and suppliers that provide quality products at competitive prices. This network, combined with HRES' market knowledge and industry expertise means that an extensive selection of new and used parts is always available to support your diesel engine and electrical system needs.

COMPONENTS

HRES also provides complete component systems to support the locomotive and diesel engine markets. Many of the major systems have been separated from the locomotive to support HRES component sales. Traction motor/wheel combos, engine front ends, electrical lockers, cooling systems, and more have been prepared for individual sale to our customers.

Furthermore, our dedicated shipping department and central location serve to expedite these critical items with same day service.

OTHER SERVICES

Looking to sell some excess power? HRES is always looking to replenish our inventory so contact an HRES representative to discuss your fleet availability.
